UNCLE CECIL'S INSTRUCTIONS FOR LOADING THE GAME . . .

Somewhere amongst all the super-hip outasight goodies enclosed in this bright shiny box, you should find AT NO EXTRA COST TO YOURSELF, what we in the business call a 'computer game'.

This miracle of modern technology will enable you to experience the thrill packed world of the ROCK BIZ without straying from the comfort of your favourite armchair.

All you have to do is match your groovy happening ROCKSTAR game with a suitable computer and follow the simple instructions below.

Cassette

In all cases, insert and rewind the GAME cassette before following these instructions:

SPECTRUM

48K users type LOAD" press ENTER

128K users press ENTER

AMSTRAD

664/6128 users type TAPE press ENTER

then type RUN" press ENTER

464 users type RUN" then press ENTER

C64/128

C128 users select C64 mode

Type LOAD press RETURN

Disks

SPECTRUM

Turn computer on, insert disk, press ENTER

Type RUN"ROCKSTAR then press ENTER

AMSTRAD

C128 users select C64 mode

C64/128

Type LOAD"*",8,1 press RETURN

Insert the disk, turn the computer on

ATARI ST

At the 'Insert Workbench' screen, insert the Rockstar disk

AMIGA

Boot DOS from your system disk. At the A> prompt insert the Rockstar disk,

PC

type ROCKSTAR and press ENTER

Other Formats

ZX81

You'll need a small add-on for the game to work properly. Go to your nearest computer dealer and ask for a 'ZX Spectrum'. Unpack and test it, then follow the instructions Cassette: Spectrum above.

MSX

buy yourself a Spectrum, Commodore 64, Atari St etc.

CRAY IIXMP

Load and run your 'Spectrum emulator' program, then follow the Spectrum instructions above.

HAL 9000

Engage HAL in musical conversation. Ask if he's heard of the game 'ROCKSTAR'. At this point, HAL may go into Spectrum emulation mode (instructions above) or instead hum the entire score of Tubular Bells, which is only marginally less interesting.

IBM SERIES 34

Have you operator mount the Rockstar punched cards in the feed hopper, then ask him to load them during the next free time slice.

We are sorry if you own an abacus - due to the present state of the market we feel that we can no longer convert games to this format economically.

Fantastic free pull-out guide to playing the game! - See centre pages

ALIENS STOLE MY VOLVO!

ANOTHER STUN EXCLUSIVE

FUN LOVING businessman Adam Crutch, 45, returned to his car after a lengthy business lunch only to be driven away by a little green man!

"I just couldn't believe it!" he gasped, "I'd had quite a few drinks, and was just returning to my car to collect my briefcase. No way was I going to drive anywhere that day.

MOTORWAY

I opened the drivers door and leaned over the back seat. Suddenly I was hit over the head by a green clammy hand! The next thing I knew I was being driven down the motorway at 120mph by this glowing six foot blob, which eventually pulled over onto the hard shoulder and disappeared!"

OVER LIMIT

The police however don't share Mr Crutch's belief in the alien. They found no traces of glowing slime when they eventually forced his car off the road, but did find Mr Crutch to be five times over the legal blood-alcohol limit.

BUBBLES

THE CECIL PITT GUIDE

HI THERE POP-PICKERS!

I'm Cecil Pitt: rock entrepreneur, creative genius, friend and confidante to the stars. No doubt you've heard of me. I've been a starmaker for some time now, and I'd like to share my inside knowledge of the ROCK BIZ with you in this article: THE CECIL PITT GUIDE TO ROCK MANAGEMENT.

PICKING YOUR STARS

How many superstars can you manage? One may be cheaper and easier, but the more you have, the more popular you'll be – THINK BIG!

Should you go for the up-to-the-minute groovy pop megastars, or save money on boring old has-beens? It's really up to you, and what you can afford. As a general rule, cheaper stars are less popular, less talented, and most prone to petty fits of rage and jealousy. This is only a guide though, some of the nicest, most talented and hard working rock stars I've managed have been willing to work for only a few pounds a week. Remember, there's one born every minute.

Get to know the stars, their talents and their moods. That way you can pick the members that suit your style of management best, and GO FOR IT!

MAKING THE BREAD

OK, you've got the stars, you've got the management ability, but how are you going to get that record deal?

Can the band play together? Get them to practise, listen to what they sound like, do they sound like an outright happening chart phenomenon to you?

Now it's time to build up their popularity. Record companies will only be interested in your band if they've got the FANS who are willing to buy their latest records. Touring and publicity helps, of course, but choose your venues and ticket prices carefully if this is your band's first outing then they're unlikely to fill a stadium with ticket's at £20.

Don't push the band too hard either. Continued touring is great for building up income and skills, best give them a break now and again. Lavish gifts and affection on them: show them you CARE. Otherwise you might find them causing trouble, asking for unnecessary creative control, or worst of all threatening to leave!

TO ROCK MANAGEMENT

WHICH RECORD DEAL?

If you're persistent, and can manage your income and star's successfully. it's inevitable that the record companies will start approaching you. THINK CAREFULLY before you accept any deal though, is a better offer going to come along soon? On the other hand, don't be too choosy. Your band might not always be as popular, and that's the very time those tempting record offers will dry up.

GOING PLATINUM

That's the name of the game isn't it? (Actually no, the game's called 'Rock Star' - ED). So get the best possible recording studio you can afford. And think carefully about naming the band's groovy songs.

Now you've got a healthy stack of material to release, so plan your releases carefully. It's up to you whether you release a single or an album first, or hit the global marketplace with them both together. One thing's for sure - successful singles boost the sales of an LP, so try to get maximum exposure for your potential toe-tapping chart-toppers. Make a video whenever you can, but choose your directors, locations, and contents carefully.

Then, who knows? Instant megastardom, or terminal oblivion down the annals of history? It all depends on YOU; your skills, your decisions, your mistakes.

And there'll be more to deal with as well: sponsors, music pirates, taxman, the list goes on. Yes, it's hard work, and it often means firing your best friends, or telling them things they don't want to hear. It's a dirty job, but somebody's got to do it. The rewards are there for the taking though, collecting those 4 silver discs, watching your band climb the steep slopes of commercial success, counting the money as it flows in. And who could be better informed than you right now, thanks to my immense generosity in sharing my vast knowledge of the ROCK BIZ with you, in this CECIL PITT GUIDE TO ROCK MANAGEMENT. So, what are you waiting for? Go grab your slice of glory now - THE CECIL PITT WAY

GO FOR IT

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Cecil Pitt". The signature is stylized, with a large, looping "C" and a long, sweeping underline that extends under the word "Pitt".

Mars transits the M25, so avoid contact with anything containing eggs, such as high speed trucks. (Unless you are a chicken, in which case try not to look down. Lucky colour: GREEN.

A rough day for cannibals in solitary confinement, why not change your name to Wilfred. It's decision time for all you small businessmen, so buy a pair of high heels, shorty!

People seem to be avoiding you at the moment. Don't worry, you're probably an estate agent. Now's the time to get it off your chest and bring those little grievances out into the open. Try Clearasil.

There's a bad alignment between Canis Turdus below O'Ryans Belt, plus unprecedented sun spot activity and meteor showers, so avoid all little green men. They're having a lousy enough day already.

If you are over one metre tall and own a computer, steer clear of stupid horoscope parodies, especially the next bit. Whatever happens, never ever read this word.

This is a good time to take up a dangerous, skilful new hobby, so why not go to church and rub some brass. Alternatively join the Red Army and withdraw from Afghanistan.

You really should do some of those little jobs that have been hanging around. This is a good day for repairing the ozone layer, inventing the zipper or recycling rubber.

If you've been suffering from amnesia lately, forget it. On the other hand, if you're up before the judge today, go back to bed. Lucky number: MINUS SEVENTEEN.

Don't worry if you have to resort to a pocket calculator. Many people don't know how many pockets they've got. Don't forget to put the cat out (unless you're an off duty fireman.)

Oh dear, oh dear, oh dear. Well you knew it had to happen sooner or later, didn't you. I mean, really, you've only got yourself to blame. Oh dear. Dear, dear, oh dear . . .

Something unexpected arrives in the post. Next door's cat is really getting smart. Why not mend that old bazooka that's in the spare room and send your reply. Unlucky number: NINE.

It's your lucky day! You can't go wrong! Everything you touch turns to gold! Wealth, love, and a fairly clear skin are yours to command. So keep out of my way, smartass.
